Our Story

Our story begins in a small village on the island of Rhodes, Greece, where one of the ancient wonders of the world, the Collosus of Rhodes, once stood guarding the entrance to the piers of the blessed and sunsoaked island. Here Maria Perides, the matriarch of the family, raised three children and taught them the importance of family. She is credited as a great cook and most of our memories involved gathering around her table soaking in the smell and flavors of her cooking. Like most grandmothers, her recipes were in her mind and despite our requests, she never wrote the recipes down. Her response in Greek was always, “A dash of this, and a dash of that depending on your mood.”

Like many chasing the American dream, Maria followed her sister to America, and in September 1971, after completing his mandatory army service, her eldest son, Theodoros (Teddy) joined his family in America. Following in his mother's footsteps, hospitality was his passion but he wanted to be his own boss, so two years into working odd jobs in kitchens in Hudson County, Teddy opened a string of restaurants including Rodos Luncheonette in Hackensack; the Rochelle Park Diner; The Penguins in Wayne; and The Royal Village, a banquet hall, in Rochelle Park.

Finally in 1988, Teddy acquired a small restaurant called Biagio's and transformed it into the fine dining establishment that we know today. After many years of hard work, Teddy realized his dream and expanded the catering side of the business to include a 30,000 square foot premier wedding hall called The Terrace. Complete with two full-service kitchens, seven catering rooms, and a courteous waitstaff, Dining Out Magazine describes Biagio's as the highest quality Italian fare "infused with a Greek freshness."

Today, Teddy runs the restaurant with his two sons, Tommy - a University of Pennsylvania alum who manages the restaurant and bar, and Executive Chef Jimmy - a Johnson & Wales graduate who trained under Mario Batali - runs both the restaurant and catering kitchens, along with their wives Athena and Paula who are in charge of the catering and event planning side of the business.

On any day of the week, you will be met by one of the family, as regulars gather to enjoy a drink at the bar, a night out with the family, or celebrate a special occasion. We welcome you to be a part of our family!
